LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

This year marks the 75th anniversary of the original GI Bill, the landmark legislation that made it possible for service members, veterans and their families to access higher education - and the American Dream. The current version of the GI Bill is financially generous, broadly accessible, and can be applied at almost any public or private institution in America. Unlike many of America’s most selective colleges and universities however, Syracuse University is committed to recruiting, admitting and enrolling veterans of recent wars in order to pursue and achieve Chancellor Syverud’s goal to make Syracuse University the “Best Place for Veterans™.”

Chancellor Syverud understands that an investment in today’s student veteran is an investment in our nation’s future. Today, more than 5% of the student body at Syracuse University - some 1,200+ students - are military-connected. This reflects an increase in military-connected enrollment of more than 500% in just five years since the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) was established.

This report chronicles what the OVMA team has accomplished over the last 12 months, based on its lines of effort: education, employment, programs, campus culture, and development. These designations represent the strategic initiatives of the OVMA that effectively leverage Syracuse University’s strengths - leadership, resources, alumni, community partnerships, supporters, faculty, and staff. More significantly, this report reflects the impact of our military-connected students as leaders and agents of change at Syracuse University. These students have achieved awards for both academic excellence and community service, they have been granted prestigious scholarships, owning titles such as Tillman, Gillman, Udall, and Remembrance Scholars. They have defined what it means to “Be Orange”.

The military-connected students in these pages reflect the very best of Syracuse University. As a veteran myself, it is an honor to serve this community by enabling their success in higher education and beyond.

“THE BEST PLACE FOR VETERANS”
PAT TILLMAN FOUNDATION

Graduate student Katy Quartaro ’18, G’20, an executive master of public administration candidate in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, was named the 2019 Tillman Scholar for Syracuse University. She joins an elite class of 60 U.S. service members, veterans and military spouses chosen this year from across the nation that will receive more than $1.2 million in scholarship funding to pursue higher education degrees from the Pat Tillman Foundation (PTF).

“I am honored and humbled to be selected as a Tillman Scholar, and I am thrilled for the opportunity to represent Syracuse University and the Pat Tillman Foundation in the coming year and beyond,” said Quartaro. “To be a Tillman Scholar means I get to be a part of an outstanding network of some of the best and brightest future leaders in the country. I am blown away by the caliber of the men and women I will be able to connect with, and look forward to learning from them as I work toward my goal of supporting and improving American national security. I hope I can make my Orange family proud and honor Pat’s legacy of selfless service and leadership to make an impact during my remaining time at Syracuse University and after graduation.”

Syracuse University 2018 Tillman Scholar Robin Evans led a corral at the 15th Annual Pat’s Run with the Pat Tillman Foundation on April 27th in Mesa, AZ.
HONOR STUDENTS

GILMAN SCHOLARSHIP
Student veterans Tristan Carson and Zack Watson were recipients of the U.S. Department of State’s Benjamin A. Gilman Scholarship. Highly competitive, the Gilman Scholarship’s mission is to broaden and diversify the student population that studies and interns abroad.

Tristan Carson, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran and English education major in the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education. Carson is a member of the SVO and the recipient of the 2018 SVO People’s Choice Award for his positive attitude and participation in the student organization. Carson studied abroad in Spain during the summer 2019 term.

Zack Watson, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran, is studying political science in the College of Arts and Sciences and the Maxwell School at Syracuse University. Watson participated in the University’s performance of “Separated” at Syracuse Stage, is a member of the Student Veterans Organization (SVO), and played on the University’s club rugby team. As a Gilman Scholar, Watson studied in London during the Spring 2019 semester.

UDALL SCHOLARSHIP
Army ROTC Cadet Bethany Murphy, a first-generation environmental engineering major from Massachusetts, was selected to Receive Prestigious Udall Scholarship. Last year, Murphy received a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Ernest F. Hollings Undergraduate Scholarship. Murphy will intern at the Colorado Basin River Forecast Center in Salt Lake City, Utah, this summer through NOAA, forecasting water supply given data on snowpack and other climatic conditions. Murphy plans to combine her environmental engineering training with her understanding of military operations and organizational structures to approach the issue of reducing the military’s environmental footprint. She plans to commission into the U.S. Army as an engineering officer.

REMEMBRANCE SCHOLARS
Army ROTC Cadets Marshall Lipsey and Bethany Murphy were named two of the thirty-five students who will be the 2019-20 Remembrance Scholars. The scholarships were founded as a tribute to—and means of remembering—the 35 students who were killed in the Dec. 21, 1988, bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland.

Marshall Lipsey of West Orange, New Jersey, is a political science major in the College of Arts and Sciences and the Maxwell School, a psychology major in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of the Army ROTC.

Bethany Murphy of Seekonk, Massachusetts, is an environmental engineering major in the College of Engineering and Computer Science and a member of the Army ROTC.

STUDENT VETERANS OF AMERICA (SVA) LEADERSHIP SUMMIT
Syracuse University student veterans Nicklaus Brincka and Jonathan Quinlan were accepted to the Student Veterans of America (SVA) Leadership Institute in D.C. in September, 2018. The Summit brought together student veterans leaders to exchange best practices from their SVA Chapters and to explore campus-level leadership concepts that can easily be applied at home. The Summit is hosted with one or more SVA corporate partners, which gives student veterans the opportunity to network and learn from business leaders while they attend. Vice Chancellor Dr. Mike Haynie was one of the leaders SVA invited to the summit.

2018 New York State Advisory Council on Military Education Annual Conference
On Sept. 26-28, Syracuse University’s Office of Veteran and Military Affairs hosted over 20 colleges and universities for the annual convening of the New York State Advisory Council on Military Education (NYS ACME). The yearly meeting brought together institutions, including Binghamton University, Fordham University, Rochester Institute of Technology, St. Bonaventure, various SUNY schools and others, together to share best practices, current trends, and new policies as they relate to military education. The three-day conference included presentations from Syracuse University leaders, including Vice Chancellor Mike Haynie, Ron Novack, Rosalinda Maury, Linda Euto, Ph.D., Jennifer Pluta, and Ben Dotger, Ph.D.

Under Young’s instruction, workshop participants learned how to systematically and rigorously develop system-level constraints based on Air Force missions and unacceptable losses.
2018 SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY WARRIOR-SCHOLAR PROJECT

Syracuse University hosted the Warrior-Scholar Project (WSP) for the fourth time during an intensive one-week academic boot camp from July 13-20, 2018. The Warrior-Scholar Project coordinates immersive academic preparation courses for enlisted military veterans of any skill level at America’s top universities. This year, the WSP at Syracuse University hosted 15 veterans.

The program is designed to help military veterans develop and rediscover the skills and confidence necessary to successfully complete four-year undergraduate degrees. The boot camp was run by a team of student veterans, and taught by University professors and graduate students. An intensive syllabus composed of both classic and modern scholarly works guided participants as they learned how to frame their ideas in an academic context, think critically, and formulate scholarly arguments.

TRANSITIONING MILITARY VETERANS TO UNIVERSITY LIFE

OVMA partnered with Hendricks Chapel for the third year to host the Transitioning Military Veterans to University Life program. This program is designed to provide newly admitted undergraduate student veterans with the resources and peer advisors necessary to make a smooth transition into a college setting. This program commences with a two-day pre-orientation during the start of the fall semester. Sunday evening, student veterans and their families attend a dinner, a campus tour, and are introduced to campus resources. The next day they are introduced to advising, housing, childcare, veteran resources, and academic and social/engagement opportunities on campus. At the completion of the orientation process, each student is connected with a PAVE peer advisor, who assists the new student veteran throughout the academic year. Fall 2018 had a cohort of 15 students, who did exceptionally well, both in class and on campus.

WOHL FAMILY VETERANS LEGAL CLINIC

The Wohl Family Veterans Legal Clinic provides representation to veterans and their families who are seeking benefits from the Department of Veteran Affairs (VA) or upgrading a military discharge through the various military branches. VETERAN’S DAY CEREMONY

On Friday, November 9th, 2018, students, staff, and faculty of Syracuse University and members of the surrounding community gathered at Hendricks Chapel to honor U.S. military veterans and their families. Derek Brainard, a US Navy veteran, MBA student, and adjunct professor at University College, emceed the ceremony and helped to honor all branches of the military during the program. Maj Gen (Ret.) Peggy Combs, a 1985 graduate of the Syracuse University ROTC program, was the keynote speaker and Chancellor Syverud was presented with a US flag flown during a combat mission over Afghanistan. This annual ceremony aligns with Syracuse University’s mission to be the “best place for veterans” and includes educational information regarding the history of Veteran’s Day in the United States, as well as the University’s connection to the military and commitment to serving veterans.
SAMUEL CLEMENCE

Samuel Clemence is a Professor Emeritus of Civil Engineering at Syracuse University and a US Navy veteran. He joined the US Navy during the Vietnam War and became a Civil Engineer following Officer Candidate School. Part of Mobile Construction Battalion 3, Clemence served in Guam; Danang, Vietnam; Phong Tong, Thailand; Chu Lai, Vietnam; and Rota, Spain, and separated honorably in 1968. After earning a PhD using GI Bill benefits, Clemence began teaching civil engineering at Syracuse University in 1977. He did not disclose his service in Vietnam, but made sure to look out for student veterans and ROTC students in his classes. While an interim Dean at Hendricks Chapel, he implemented a transition program to help student veterans’ transition to campus. Clemence also recently served as interim Ombuds at Syracuse University. Clemence is happy to see the change in atmosphere inspired by Dr. Mike Haynie and Chancellor Syverud’s commitment to making Syracuse University the best place for veterans.

PHILLIP GEORGE

Part of the Oneida tribe, Phillip George served in the U.S. Army. George chose to attend Syracuse University after recognizing its commitment to the Haudenosaunee people, but realized the University’s dedication to veterans helped provide him with a sense of belonging and community, even as an older, indigenous student veteran. Phillip studies international relations and religion in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affair and the College of Arts and Sciences, and will graduate in 2020.

MIN KANG KIM

Born and raised in Korea, Min Kang Kim decided to join the U.S. Army through the Military Accessions Vital to the National Interest program, and she served as logistics specialist in Korea and Fort Drum, NY before separating in order to pursue higher education. Kim applied for the Green to Gold program, which allows her to pursue a degree and obtain a commission through ROTC and preserve her GI Bill educational benefits for further study following graduation. Kim says the discipline she learned in the Army has helped her be more successful during her time as an economics major at Syracuse University than she was during her pre-Army experience at Binghamton University. Her decision to attend Syracuse University was influenced by the Institution’s rankings for veteran support and says Syracuse University has a very “veteran-positive” atmosphere, and that her professors are all supportive and understanding of her experience.

BETH KUBALA

Beth Kubala serves as the Senior Director for Strategy and Performance for the Institute for Veterans and Military Families (IVMF). A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, Beth served as a Military Intelligence Officer, and later an Army lawyer in the Judge Advocate General (JAG) Corps. VONN READ

Now Associate Coach for the Women’s Basketball team, Vonn served in the U.S. Army as a Unit Supply Specialist with the GI Bill as a motivating factor. Read served for four years then went to school at Clark Atlanta. Read credits his service with helping him “grow up in a hurry,” and the structure and discipline inherent to the Army helped set a foundation for his future success. Read appreciates the camaraderie in the military and his service led to him meeting many people who would have a significant impact on his life. Read thinks it is great to see Syracuse University’s collaboration with Ft. Drum, where he served during his time in the Army, and is proud to work at a place that honors and values servicemembers.

AMANDA RYLEE

When Amanda Rylee joined the Army as a Computer Analysis Repairer in 2013, women were not allowed to serve in combat occupations, but the Alabama native is now a second Lieutenant in the Army’s Field Artillery branch. She graduated with an associate’s degree and earned an early commission through Marion Military Institute, one of four military junior colleges in the nation. Amanda then chose to finish her education at Syracuse University because of its commitment to veterans and military-connected students, and the caliber of the programs available at the Whitman School of Management. Amanda studied Entrepreneurship and Emerging Enterprises, and graduated in May 2019. While a student, she was active in student veteran programs, and was awarded for her superior performance as a Peer Advisor in the P.A.V.E. program.

The tailgate was attended by over 600 participants, almost half of which traveled from Ft. Drum. This year’s tailgate was made possible in part through the generous support of Loretto Health and Rehabilitation, who served as the first ever community sponsor for the event.

GEORGE CANINO
Born and raised in Spain, George Canino pursued an associate’s degree in international business from Schiller International University in Madrid before he made a serious change and reported to the United States to serve in the US Army. Canino was stationed at Fort Drum, where he learned about the Green to Gold commissioning program. Syracuse University was a natural choice for George, and the OVMA helped make sure he was ready for classes despite getting approval to head to the University mere days before the beginning of the semester. Canino is now pursuing a political science degree from the College of Arts and Sciences and the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs and hopes to pursue a law degree and work for a law enforcement or intelligence agency following his graduation in 2020.

MARIA HELD
Maria is a native of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and obtained US citizenship in 2010. She enlisted in the US Army Reserves in 2008, and has served as a medic in many capacities, successfully completing numerous training opportunities stateside and internationally and deploying to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba for nine months. Maria completed a health science degree from George Washington University and enrolled in the Master of Public Health program at the David B. Falk College of Sport and Human Dynamics, while pursuing a commission in the Syracuse University Army ROTC program. She commissioned as a Second Lieutenant and graduated in Spring 2019. She will report to her duty station following engineer training.

MOISE LAUB
Moise, raised in Oklahoma after being adopted from Haiti, joined the US Navy in 2006 after the birth of his daughter. He served in San Diego, Oklahoma, and at the Military Entrance Processing Station at Hancock Field in Syracuse. Moise was granted three years’ career intermission to pursue his education and is now pursuing an international relations degree from the College of Arts and Sciences and the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. The father of four has been involved in student veteran and inclusion groups and hopes to either pursue a law degree or further his Navy career after graduating. His goal is to be a human rights attorney or an involved global citizen, working to make the world a better place.

STEPHANIE MALM
A Minnesota native and member of the Minnesota National Guard since 2005, Stephanie Malm says the challenges of deploying to Iraq and Kuwait as a satellite communications specialist really helped her find herself. A graduate of Capella University and current online MBA student at the Whitman School of Management, Stephanie has connected with campus-based students and become an involved member of the Syracuse University veteran community. Stephanie says she knows she can connect with and count on student veterans to help her with any challenges she may face. She attended the 2019 Student Veterans of America National Convention and found the opportunity very rewarding. “At Natcon, I used my voice not just as a mom, a wife, a student or a coach, but as a female veteran and it was empowering to do so,” she said.

CHLOE MILLIKEN
Chloe Milliken joined the Army in 2013 as an explosive ordnance disposal technician, wanting the opportunity to serve in combat, but limited by the options available to women at the time. Chloe was stationed at Fort Drum, NY, and supported the Secret Service and law enforcement while stateside. In 2015, she deployed to Afghanistan as part of Operation Enduring Freedom. During a mission in February 2016, Chloe’s vehicle was hit by an Improvised Explosive Device and she was evacuated to a Kandahar hospital. Returning to action a week later, Milliken was awarded a Combat Action Badge, Army Commendation Medal and Purple Heart for her service. Chloe, who graduated in May 2019 with a political science degree from the College of Arts and Sciences and the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, took full advantage of opportunities for veterans on campus and benefitted from the personal connections and resources available for veterans at Syracuse University. She has secured a job with the Department of Justice, and hopes to pursue her dream of becoming a special agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

DANIELLE SHEPPARD
Motivated by the September 11th terrorist attacks and inspired by the story of Pat Tillman, Danielle Sheppard joined the US Army as a chemical, biological, radiological and nuclear weapons specialist. She deployed to Iraq twice and served as a recruiter in New Jersey. Now living in Los Angeles and pursuing an online MBA, Danielle has used her connections to build a network. She attended the 2019 Student Veterans of America National Convention, and plans to take advantage of the Institute for Veterans and Military Families’ (IVMF) Entrepreneurship Boot Camp for Veterans to get her business- Above Average- off the ground. Above Average will be a clothing line focusing on jeans for tall women. She also hopes to work on a program designed to connect veterans to programs like the IVMF.

On December 7, 2018, members of the Student Veterans Organization at Syracuse University conducted their annual “Operation Orange Drop”, an effort to send care packages to deployed members of the military.

SVO AWARDS BANQUET

On Saturday, March 30th, the SVO hosted its annual Awards Banquet at ClearPath for Veterans in Chittenango, NY. U.S. Marine Corps veteran Charlie Poag, a current public relations and political science major, served as the banquet’s emcee. U.S. Army veteran Mark Erwin G’12, who is now employed as a Health Systems Specialist for the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, delivered the evening’s keynote speech.

During the event, the SVO presented two awards. Will Harrington ’21 received the Organization’s “Best for Vets” award, which is presented to the individual who has done the most to help student veterans succeed both on and off campus. Syeisha Byrd, Director of the Office of Engagement Programs at Hendricks Chapel was honored with the Community Support Award, which recognizes the individual who has done the most to support veterans, active duty military members and civilians on campus, throughout the Syracuse community and across the globe.

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) also presented two awards. The SGT Danny Facto Student Veterans Work-Study Award was presented to Marine Corps veteran Katy Quartaro ’18, G’20. The honor is presented to a student veteran who reflects the value and character of Danny Facto, a decorated combat veteran, Purple Heart recipient and the first Syracuse University VA Work Study recipient who passed away in 2009.

To conclude the evening, the OVMA presented the Student Veteran of the Year award to Chloe Milliken ’19. The Student Veteran of the Year award is the highest honor bestowed by the OVMA.

MLK Dinner

10 student veterans were given the opportunity to attend the University’s annual Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration on January 27th, 2019. The celebration honored “Unsung Heroes” of the Syracuse community who are champions for those in need. The event also featured Daily Show Host and author, Trevor Noah, whose book “Born a Crime” was assigned as part of the Syracuse Reads program for first year and transfer students.
BE ORANGE
As a part of the Syracuse University “Be Orange” campaign, student veterans Rob Rivera and Katherine Quartaro were featured in an effort to tell the story of what it means to “be orange” as a Syracuse University student veteran.

For more than a decade, Rob Rivera journeyed on a path of public service that he embraced with enthusiasm. As a member of the U.S. Army National Guard, he worked as a geospatial military intelligence analyst at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, observing drone and satellite reconnaissance and passing information up the chain of command. He also served his local community in New Jersey as an emergency medical technician (EMT). In 2010, all that changed when Rivera suffered a spinal cord injury at Camp Shelby, Mississippi. In 2016, Rivera’s path led him to Syracuse University where he recently graduated with a dual masters in International Relations and Public Relations. He has embraced the veterans’ community, acting as the public affairs officer for the Student Veterans Organization from 2018-2019. Speaking of Syracuse University’s commitment to veterans Rivera said, “I think the emphasis that particularly the Chancellor and others on down have made toward the veteran community is noted. And it’s not talk. It’s real and it’s in action.”

Katy Quartaro ’18 joined the Marine Corps in 2008 with the goal of making the world a better place. Today she remains on her path with the help of Syracuse University’s student veteran resources. “Becoming involved in campus resources that are here to help veterans—the Student Veterans Organization, the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs and Veteran Career Services—helped so much.” said Quartaro. Quartaro graduated in December with a B.S. in forensic science and a B.S. in psychology and is now enrolled in the executive master of public administration program in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. “Ultimately, I want to work for the government in counterterrorism or intelligence, so a good foundation in public leadership is important,” she asserts. She serves as an executive intern for the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) and as a team leader for Peer Advisors for Veteran Education (PAVE).
As a Peer Advisors for Veteran Education (PAVE) partner campus for the third year, Syracuse’s PAVE team, led by team leader, Katherine Quartaro ’18, G ’19, paired all incoming undergraduate student veterans with one of fourteen peer advisors in an effort to help them navigate college life, address challenges they may face, refer them to appropriate resources on and off campus, and provide ongoing support. On April 27, 2018, OVMA and PAVE hosted an end-of-year dinner to celebrate the first year success of new student veterans. The “Celebration of First-Year Success,” sponsored by Hendricks Chapel, was held at the Nancy Cantor Warehouse. The evening’s program included welcoming remarks by Katherine Quartaro, dinner, awards and speeches from first-year student veterans as well as veteran-dedicated Syracuse staff.

“The event really recognizes the community of support at Syracuse,” says Quartaro. “Transitioning to higher education after a military career is no easy feat. Our first-year students triumphed, and that is something to celebrate.”

VETERANS AFFINITY GROUP

Over the past year, the diverse Veteran Affinity Group continued to work toward its mission to engage the veteran community; unite the faculty and staff veteran groups; influence veteran-friendly policy, regulations and procedures; and inform the university community. The Veteran Affinity Group participated in numerous service projects and community events. The group continued to focus on improving the veterans’ section of Oakwood cemetery, and are working to obtain gravestones for unmarked plots. The Affinity group hosted multiple successful social events to connect veterans and military-connected students, staff, and family members, including an event at the Genesee Grande Hotel on March 21st, during which approximately 50 veterans and Chancellor Syverud met and networked. The Veterans Affinity Group also participated in two honor flight welcome events, and members hosted monthly luncheons where they spoke on a variety of topics, from artificial intelligence and policy, to Hispanic military members’ impacts.

WHAT’S BREWIN’

In collaboration with the IVMF, OVMA was included in multiple “What’s Brewin’” episodes. “What’s Brewin’” are short interview features that are shared on OVMA and IVMF social media outlets monthly. OVMA features included discussions with Warrior Scholar Project Fellows Wesley Hughes and Darryl Forster, Tillman Scholars Katie Piston and LTC (Ret) Robin Evans, and Maj Gen (Ret) Peggy Combs, Syracuse University’s highest ranking female alum. Office of Veteran Success’s Kari McKinkle and University College’s Christopher Schulz, as well as Scott Taylor and Jessica Calhoun from Admissions also contributed, adding valuable information to the discussions on what makes Syracuse University the “best place for vets.”
CHANCELLOR’S REVIEW

I’m proud to say that veteran and military connected enrollment has passed the 5% of our total enrollment here at Syracuse University.

—Chancellor Syverud, Syracuse University

Chancellor Kent Syverud and leaders from Syracuse University and its Office of Veteran and Military Affairs were joined by special guests, alumni, community members and educational partners to host the 102nd Annual Chancellor’s Review. The celebration included an awards ceremony and public review of the ROTC cadets in the Carrier Dome on Friday, March 8. “Syracuse University’s ROTC cadets are smart, hardworking and civic-minded,” says Chancellor Syverud. “I’m proud to say that veteran and military connected enrollment has passed the 5% of our total enrollment here at Syracuse University.” Syracuse University is committed to building on its long legacy of supporting the nation’s veterans and military families. For example, the University has the oldest continuously running Army ROTC program in the nation and is consistently placed among the best universities for veteran rankings. Celebration attendees viewed the current ROTC members as they performed drill and ceremonies in formation as they are reviewed by Chancellor Syverud. Cadets were also presented with awards celebrating their many achievements throughout the year.
DEVELOPMENT
BOSTON STAFF RIDE

Senior cadets in the Syracuse University Army and Air Force ROTC programs participated in a staff ride to Boston this year. The cadets were afforded the opportunity to study historic sites and military events as well as develop their understanding of military decision making. The staff ride included tours of Hanscom Air Force Base, Bunker Hill, the USS Constitution, the Minute Man Museum, Paul Revere’s capture site at Lexington, the Old North Bridge and Concord.

OPEN HOUSE

Syracuse University has a long and storied history of supporting our nation’s veterans and military-connected students. During Orange Central weekend, Syracuse University alumni visited the Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) to learn about our history, including the longest continuously running Army ROTC program in the nation, former Chancellor William Tolley’s call to open the doors of the University to more than 10,000 World War II veterans, stories of fellow alumni who served our great nation, and so much more.

VETERAN LEGACY FUND “1944 CIRCLE”

G.O.L.D. - Graduates of the Last Decade

In 2015, the Veteran Legacy Fund (VLF) was established as a means of garnering support from alums, friends and community members who stand with us in our aspirations of making Syracuse University “the best place for veterans”™ and military-connected students. In 2017, the Veterans Legacy Fund “Leadership Circle” was created to recognize and give thanks to those individuals who have made multi-year leadership annual gifts in support of our work.

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs believes each supporter of the VLF deserves special recognition. That said, we also understand the challenges our recent graduates face as they transition to the workforce, start new careers and begin or continue raising families. OVMA will now recognize “graduates of the last decade” (G.O.L.D.), who desire to take their commitment a step further.

Syracuse University graduates from within the last decade are formally invited to become part of the Veteran Legacy Fund 1944 Circle. Members make a five-year pledge of $100 or more annually to provide unrestricted support to our initiatives. For more information, please contact the OVMA Development team at 315-443-0141.

OFFICE OF VETERAN AND MILITARY AFFAIRS

The Office of Veteran and Military Affairs (OVMA) serves as Syracuse University’s “single point of entry” for all veteran and military related programs and initiatives. It collaborates and coordinates with the university community and stakeholders to best serve veterans, military-connected students, and military family members who are students or employees at Syracuse University.

By offering a diverse range of programming, support, and resources specifically focused on our student veterans and their families, OVMA seeks to make the Syracuse University campus more veteran friendly and relevant for every student veteran.

COMMITMENT TO SUPPORTING AND HIRING VETERANS

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University’s contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

COMMITMENT TO A DIVERSE AND INCLUSIVE CAMPUS COMMUNITY

Syracuse University maintains an inclusive learning environment in which students, faculty, administrators, staff, curriculum, social activities, governance, and all other aspects of campus life reflect a diverse, multi-cultural, and international worldview. The University community recognizes and values the many similarities and differences among individuals and groups. At Syracuse, we are committed to preparing students to understand, live among, appreciate, and work in an inherently diverse country and world made up of people with different ethnic and racial backgrounds, military backgrounds, religious beliefs, socio-economic status, cultural traditions, abilities, sexual orientations and gender identities. To do so, we commit ourselves to promoting a community that celebrates and models the principles of diversity and inclusivity.

EEOC

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.
